Mr. PAINE offered a resolution declaring that the seat of government ought to be removed to the Valley of the Mississippi. Rejected—yeas, seventy-seven; nays, ninety-seven.

The SPEAKER presented several Executive documents, including an extract from the proceedings of the Mississippi Convention relative to the cotton tax being applied to the relief of the poor, and resolutions of the Georgia Convention asking a loan of thirty millions of dollars to Southern planters.

The House next drew for seats, after which

The SPEAKER presented a message from the President in reference to the trial and conviction of American citizens in Great Britain, with a partial report, and on other subjects, which was appropriately referred.

Mr. PRICE, by unanimous consent, introduced a resolution relative to the Rock Island Bridge, with the remark that it was simply explanatory of the law and had no money in it.

Mr. SCOFIELD said he took issue with the gentleman from Iowa as to there being no money in the bill. There was not only money in it, but a good deal of money. It was neither more nor less than a plan to build a bridge across the Mississippi, half at the expense of the Government, and to donate it to the railroad. The next thing would be to give subsidies to a new railroad, and he might come in asking from Congress an appropriation to build a bridge across the Allegheny river at Warren.

Mr. PRICE remarked the speech of Mr. Scofield was a good one, if it contained one thing, which it did not contain, that was a very small spice of truth. When the gentleman stated it was proposed to build a bridge across the Mississippi and donate it to a railroad, he stated what had no foundation in fact. He did not believe in gentlemen indulging in big talk of reform and economy and raising a howl about this being a railroad bridge.

The SPEAKER notified Mr. Price the expression about "raising a howl" was not parliamentary.

Mr. PRICE said he would withdraw the "howl," and substitute some other dictionary word—"noise" would probably do. By the joint resolution the ownership of the bridge would remain in the government and not go to any railroad company. If the gentleman (Mr. Scofield) made his speech as attorney of the Railroad company, it might be all very well, because this act was not what the railroad men liked, but what the government wanted.

Mr. SCOFIELD rejoined, that though the gentleman (Mr. Price) had charged him with misstating facts, he had stated none at all, but wanted the House to "go it blind."

After some further discussion, from which it appeared that the bridge in question is to be built at the joint expense of the Government and Railroad Company, and that this act is necessary for the regulation of the right of way, &c., the joint resolution passed—Yeas eighty-five, nays forty-five.

Mr. STEVENS, of Pennsylvania, asked leave to offer a resolution that the evidence taken on impeachment by the Judiciary Committee be referred to the Committee on Reconstruction, and the Committee have leave to report at any time.

Messrs. RANDALL and BROOKS objected.

Mr. STEVENS moved to suspend the rules.

Mr. ELDRIDGE suggested there would be no objection, if the gentleman would consent that fifty thousand copies of that testimony be printed for the use of the public.

Mr. STEVENS said he had no objection.

The SPEAKER remarked all motions for printing extra copies of documents must be referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr. ELDRIDGE went on to say he thought the verdict of the people would have been conclusive on that testimony.

The SPEAKER asked Mr. Eldridge whether he desired to offer such resolution for reference?

Mr. ELDRIDGE said he did.

The SPEAKER said there being no objection, the resolution of Mr. Eldridge was referred to the Committee on Printing.

Mr. BROOKS said he would not object to Mr. Stevens' resolution, if a resolution be admitted and adopted directing the General of the Army to send a copy of the President's last letter to him to the Secretary of War to send to the House.

Mr. STEVENS said he agreed to that. There being no objection that resolution was adopted, and then all objections having been withdrawn, Mr. Stevens' resolution was adopted.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, Mr. WILSON, of Iowa, in the Chair, and resumed the consideration of the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill.

Mr. LAFLIN, Chairman of the House Printing Committee, stated the cost of printing for the year 1866 and 1867 at $454,339, currency, against $655,210 in 1859 and 1860, on a gold basis.

The twenty per cent. additional compensation was added to the salaries of employes of the Congressional Library, and female employes in the Public Printing Office.

A discussion arose relative to an appropriation of $100,000 for the payment of judgments which may be rendered by the Court of Claims.

Without decision the Committee rose.

Mr. PILE made a personal explanation in reference to Mr. Johnson's remarks concerning himself on Friday, and reiterated that the latter's resolution, before mentioned, was a "burlesque on common sense," and his speech was a burlesque on the resolution. Mr. PILE expressed pride at his record both in the church and army, and passed Mr. Johnson's personal remarks in silent contempt.

Mr. JOHNSON asked a minute to reply, but Mr. WASHBURNE, of Illinois, objecting, said he would take the floor to-morrow.

The SPEAKER presented a communication from the Secretary of the Navy transmitting the papers in the Court-martial case of Second Engineer Sawyer for speaking disrespectfully of the President of the United States, and suspended for one year.

Mr. SCHENCK, while admitting that disrespect to a superior officer should be punished, he characterized the action of the informer in the case as a poor, mean, dirty, pimping business.

Some debate ensued, during which Mr. SCHENCK added it was contemptible for the Secretary of the Navy Yard to watch over the conversation of officers. The testimony would show the witness in the case had spoken as disrespectfully of Congress as Mr. Sawyer had done of the President, and, therefore, he wanted it printed.

Mr. ELA said he was informed employes at the Portsmouth yard were discharged because they had expressed Republican sentiments, and he hoped all appropriations for detectives and spies at the Navy Yard would be stricken out.

After further debate the papers were referred to the Naval Committee.

House adjourned.

GREAT BRITAIN.

LONDON, February 10.—The Marquis D. Azeglio, Ambassador of Italy, has sent his resignation to the King of Italy, and requests to be recalled from London at an early day.

LIVERPOOL, February 10.—The protracted strike of the cabmen has ended. The men have all returned to their stands and cabs are now running through the streets as usual to the great relief of the people.

LONDON, February 10.—The guards of constables and soldiers in and around Warwick jail, where the Fenian prisoner Burke is still confined, have been doubled and many additional precautions taken, in consequence of reports that the Fenians threaten to rescue their leader by force. Much excitement exists in Warwick, and the citizens volunteer in large numbers to serve as special constables.

McCormick, in a private dispatch dated Paris to-day, reports that on the 5th inst. an official report was published of the trial of improved agricultural implements on the Imperial farms last year, and awards finally made to successful inventors by the special commission appointed by the Emperor. A grand prize is given McCormick for his reaping machine, and a gold medal, together with an object of art, to Wood, of Hoosic Falls, New York, for his mowing machine. Upon both these gentlemen the Emperor has conferred the decoration of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. Other grand prizes were awarded to the Emperors of France, Austria and Russia.

CORK, February 10.—Last night a squad of policemen who were patroling the city were confronted by a crowd of men in the street, who commenced an attack with stones and clubs. The policemen being greatly outnumbered, fell back on the nearest station and were chased some distance by the mob, several of whom, during the flight of the police, fired upon them with pistols and other fire arms. None of them were hurt. As soon as they reached the neighborhood of the station the pursuit ceased, and when the police, reinforced, sallied out the crowd had dispersed. As the night was dark and thick none of the attacking party could be distinctly seen or recognized, and though the officers are actively searching for the suspected ring leaders they have not yet been able to effect any arrests.

CORK, Feb. 10.—The police succeeded in arresting many persons who were suspected of having taken part in the riotous attempt to rescue Capt. Mackay. It is reported that among the arrested two men have been identified as the men who shot the two policemen on that occasion, but as no examination has yet taken place nothing definite is known as to the charges or evidence against them.

Some persons were also arrested on suspicion of having been concerned in the assault on the police last night.

The recent bold disturbances of the peace have caused the Government officials here to redouble their exertions.

DUBLIN, February 10.—Evening.—The Grand Jury to whom the cases of the accused Fenians now in prison in this city are to be presented, to-day assembled at the Court House. Lord Fitzgerald, Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, delivered the charge to the jury, in which he deplored in strong language the outrages which had been perpetrated and the useless agitation and lawless spirit now prevailing in Ireland. The Grand Jury then withdrew to their chamber and commenced their labors. Two indictments have been found against the prisoner Lennox, one for treason, the other for murder, he being charged with shooting a policeman at Stepaside. The prisoner Pigot had been indicted on a charge of sedition.

CHINA.

LONDON, February 10.—Dispatches from China and news to the latest dates received, state that United States Minister Burlingame left Pekin on his mission for the Emperor of China, and arrived at Shanghai, from which place he was to proceed direct to the United States.

Shocks of an earthquake were felt at Shanghai, Ningpoo and the surrounding districts. No destruction of property or loss of life is reported. The oscillations were not violent, but the unusual occurrence caused great consternation among the Chinese, and wherever the phenomenon was felt the wildest panic prevailed.

Intelligence in regard to the rebellion in north China is not very definite. The Imperialists report a battle had taken place since the conflict at Shinting, and claim that the rebels were defeated in all these encounters, and Imperial arms are rapidly gaining ground they had lost.

GERMANY.

BERLIN, February 10.—The National Customs Conference, which will soon assemble here, is regarded not only as important to the interests of commerce, but as likely to advance in no small degree the progress of German unity. The National party, taking advantage of the opportunity, are assiduously laying plans to give a political character to the approaching Conference, which it is expected will embrace representatives from all sections of the Fatherland.

The Stanton-Grant Matter.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 10, 1868.

In the Supreme Court of the United States to-day Associate Justice Nelson announced the opinion in the case of the State of Gergia against Hon. E. M. Stanton, Secretary of War, General Grant and Major General Pope.

The last named at the time the bill was filed was commanding the Third Military District, composed of Georgia, Florida and Alabama, designated by the act of Congress, approved March 2d, 1867, entitled "An act to provide for the more efficient government of the Rebel States," and the act supplemental thereto, passed the 23d of the same month. The bill filed by the State of Georgia prayed for an injunction for the purpose of restraining the defendants from carrying into effect the several provisions of these acts and set forth the existence of Georgia as one of the States of the Union, and further that on the surrender of the Confederate army in 1865, at the close of the civil war, that State was in the possession and enjoyment of all the rights belonging to a State in the Union under the Constitution and laws of the United States, and as such was entitled to representation in both Houses of Congress. The bill further sets forth that the intention and designs of those acts of Congress were apparent on their face and by their terms, viz: the overthrow of the existing State Government and the erection in its place of another not authorized by the Constitution, and that in furtherance of this intent the Secretary of War, Gen. Grant and Major-General Pope, acting under orders from the President, were about setting in motion a portion of these statutes to take military possession and subvert the Government of Georgia, thereby subjecting the people thereof to military rule; that the State was wholly inadequate to resist the power of the several departments, and therefore insisted protection ought to be afforded by a decree of the Supreme Court in the premises.

The bill next prayed: First—That defendants might be restrained from issuing any order or doing any act or thing within the State of Georgia injurious to said State which might be required of them by act of Congress. Second—To cause the defendants to delay registration in Georgia as prescribed in the last named act. Third—To restrain them from administering or causing to be administered the oath provided for in that act. Fourth—To prevent an election or returns of such election from being received according to the acts in question. Fifth—From holding or causing to be held any convention as prescribed therein.

Associate Justice Nelson, having set forth the premises, but at greater length than above given, said in substance, that a motion had been made by counsel for defendants to dismiss the case for want of jurisdiction, and as one without precedent. It was claimed the Court had no jurisdiction in the case, either of the subject in the bill or over the parties presented. The first ground was supported by the argument that it was a political and not a judicial question, therefore it was not a subject of cognizance by this Court. The distinction between judicial and political questions resulted from the organization of the government, executive, legislative and judicial, and from the limitation of the powers of each under the Constitution. The judicial power was vested in the judicial department, and the political power in the two other departments. The distinction between judicial and political power was so generally admitted that the Court deemed it necessary to do nothing more than to refer to some of the authorities on the subject. They were alone their direction. Among them the case of Rhode Island against the State of Massachusetts. It had been supposed this case afforded authority for hearing and deciding as on a question connected with a bill in equity, but on close examination this would be found a mistake. There was a question of boundary between these two States, and not one of a political character. In the case of Florida against Georgia the United States were allowed to intervene, being the proprietors of a large portion of lands situated within the disputed boundary ceded to the United States by Spain, the State of Florida also being interested as a proprietor. The case bearing most directly on this one is that of the Cherokee Nation against the State of Georgia. A bill was filed in this case and an injunction prayed for to prevent the execution of certain acts of Georgia against the Cherokee Nation. The latter claimed the right to appear in Court as a foreign nation. The acts of the Legislature, if carried into execution, would have destroyed the tribal condition of the Cherokees and subjected them to the authority of the State. It was, therefore, decided that the Cherokees were not a foreign nation in the sense referred to in the Constitution of the United States. Justice Marshall said the bill was untenable on another ground, namely: it involved a political question.

Justice Nelson referred to several high authorities in support of the above views, and showed that the political power did not belong to the Judiciary, and that the Court could have no right to pronounce merely an abstract opinion of the Constitution or of State laws. It might, however, decide on all statutes properly falling under judicial authority. By the second section of the third article of the Constitution of the United States, it is provided the judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this Constitution, the law of the United States and treaties made or which shall be made under their authority, to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, to controversies to which the United States shall be a party, to controversies between two or more States, between a State and citizens of another State, between citizens of different States, between citizens of the same State claiming lands under grants of different States, and between a State or the citizens thereof and foreign States, citizens or subjects.

The bill filed by the State of Georgia prays for an injunction to restrain defendants from executing certain parts of the acts of Congress, being apprehensive that injury to the State would thereby result, but according to law and precedent, in order to entitle the parties to relief, a case must be properly presented for the exercise of judicial power, and the case must refer to the rights of persons and property, and not to political questions merely, which do not belong to the judiciary either in law or equity. In view of the principles under the Constitution and statutes, which the Court had endeavored to explain, the question was whether the Court could take cognizance of the question now before it. The Court was called on to restrain defendants, who represented the Executive Department, from putting into execution certain acts of Congress, which it was claimed would overthrow the existing State government of Georgia, and establish a different one in its stead. In other words, destroy the corporate existence of the State. Such is the substance of the bill. It called for the judgment of the Court on a political question, and not one involving persons and property. No question of person or property, or threatened danger to them, was presented in the bill in a form justifying judicial action by the Court. It was true the bill set forth political rights as in danger, and among other things that Georgia owned certain property, the State Capitol, Executive Mansion, and other real and personal property, and that by putting those acts of Congress into execution the State would be deprived of the possession of such property; but it was apparent this reference was only incidental and not specific matter of remedy. The relief asked would call for a bill different from the one now before the Court.

Having for the reasons stated arrived at a conclusion, it was important to examine the question of jurisdiction in connection with the defendants. The Court dismissed the bill for want of jurisdiction. This decision, the Judge remarked, also disposed of the case of the State of Mississippi against Secretary Stanton, General Grant and Major General Ord, involving a similar question.

Chief Justice Chase said he did not concur in all the reasons, but assented to the conclusion, believing the Court had no jurisdiction in the case.

SUPREME COURT OPINIONS.

In the Supreme Court to-day the following opinions were delivered:

No. 77. Lowry, appellant, versus Sypher, administratrix of Keene; appeal from Circuit Court of the United States, district of Iowa. Justice Davis delivered the opinion of the Court affirming the decree of the Circuit Court with costs.

No. 301. Haight, plaintiff in error, vs. Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne & Chicago Railroad Co.; in error to Circuit Court of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania. Justice Grier delivered the opinion of the Court, affirming the judgment of the Circuit Court, with costs and interest.

No. 61. West et. al. plaintiffs in error, vs. City of Aurora, Ind.; error to Circuit Court of the United States for the District of Indiana. Chief Justice Chase delivered the opinion of the Court affirming the judgment of the Circuit Court, with costs.

The Chief Justice announced the Court will adjourn for the term on the first Monday in April.

TIMBER LAND FOR NAVAL PURPOSES.

The President sent a message to the House to-day, enclosing a communication from the Secretary of the Navy relative to the depredations upon and future care of reservations of lands for the purpose of supplying timber for the navy. The lands thus reserved were placed under the control of the Navy Department, and are scattered through Florida, Georgia, Mississippi and Louisiana, embracing 264,000 acres. Secretary Welles says if these lands are to be retained for the purpose for which they have been protected for half a century an appropriation of $20,000 for salaries and other necessary expenses will be required.

NOMINATIONS MADE AND ACTED UPON.

The President to-day sent the following nominations to the Senate: Charles F. Tuckerman, New York, Minister resident to Greece; Captain Greeve, Commodore in the Navy on active list, vice Commodore Cicero Price, retired; Commodore John Cooper, Captain on active list, vice Captain Green, nominated for promotion.

The Senate confirmed the following: T. Scott Stewart, Pa., Consul of Osaka and Hiago; James W. Henderson, Register of Land Office at Humboldt, California; L. E. Webb, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, New Mexico; William J. Britan, Assessor Internal Revenue First District, Mississippi; Felix G. Clark, Register Land Office at Des Moines, Iowa; George M. Hallett, Receiver of Public Money in Colorado; Irwin G. Stanton, Register of Land Office at Central City; Col. Ambrose Campbell, Register of Land Office at Marquette, Michigan; W. H. Trower, Postmaster, Shelbyville, Illinois; William G. Bowers, Postmaster, Mount Vernon, Iowa.

PROTECTION OF CITIZENS ABROAD.

The Secretary of State, in reply to a resolution, sent to the House to-day an immense mass of documents relative to the protection of American citizens abroad. Some of the papers are dated two years back. The Secretary promises another portion on the subject, so as to fully give all information on the files in his department up to this date. The documents are composed for the greater part of reports and proceedings of meetings in this country, and addresses to the government on that subject, asking relief for naturalized citizens abroad.

UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.

The Board of Directors of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, at a meeting on Friday, voted to place the machine shops, depots, &c., for the road east of the mountains and for the mountain division at Cheyenne, and to make that point a grand turning point at the east base of the mountains. The decision will cause an expenditure of a large amount of money, as the shops are to be on as large a scale as any in the United States, and will be a credit to the road.

THE STANTON-GRANT AFFAIR.

The sub-Committee on Reconstruction this morning resumed the examination of Mr. Stillson, correspondent of the New York World, with reference to his conversations with the President on the subject of the Stanton and Grant matter, and in connection with the President and Grant correspondence, which was referred by the House to the Committee.

—The fire in John street, New York, on Saturday night, proves to have caused a loss of over half a million dollars. Messrs. Jessup & Co. were the owners of the building, and their stock of steel in the basement, valued at 125,000 dollars was destroyed. Fully insured. A. W. Payne's loss is $200,000 to $300,000. F. C. Greer, hardware, damaged to the amount of $50,000. Park Brothers' stock, damaged to the amount of $10,000. Loss on building, $5,000; insured. Several other parties lost minor amounts.

Cold Weather.

(By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.)

MILWAUKEE, Wis., February 10.—The weather is intensely cold. The thermometer here at seven o'clock a. m. indicated sixteen degrees below zero. At Winona, Minn., it was thirty-five below; Madison, Wisconsin, thirty-four below; Hastings and Wabasha, Minn., thirty-six below, and St. Paul forty below.

CHICAGO, February 10.—Dispatches from different points in Illinois and the West indicate last night the coldest of the season. The thermometer at eight o'clock this morning stood at Rock Island, twenty-eight degrees below zero; at Dixon, forty below; at Freeport, twenty-eight below; Cherry Valley, thirty-six below; Quincy, eight below; Beloit, Wis., twenty-seven below; Des Moines, Iowa, twenty-four below; Dubuque, twenty two below; Muscatine, thirty-two below; Keokuk, ten below.

—There are evidences of the fact that the eccentric creatures, or wide sashes, are to be all the rage this season; and on these sashes are worn the largest and most voyant ornaments of silver and gilt. Anchors, lutes, harps—queer shaped things, large and cumbersome—dangle behind the belles. Some years since the ornaments I refer to would have been deemed fitted at best for the squaws of the Flatfeet or the Sioux, not to mention the red bead and bright flannel loving, thick lipped Abyssinian females; but Fashion, having exhausted the realms of taste, is forced now to enter that of show, and her disciples must obediently rush after her.—Paris Cor.

—The Cleveland Herald says: "The George Francis Train affair resolves itself into this: one passenger on the Scotia had too long a tongue, another had too long ears, and the authorities who made the arrest had too long noses. The one thing needed by all parties concerned was common sense."

CITY AND SUBURBAN.

FOURTH STREET FIRE.

Investigation of the Causes—The Fire Department Vindicated.

The fact of the disastrous fire on Fourth street occurring in the same establishment and but a few hours after the first had been extinguished gave rise to the opinion that the fire department, which was under the charge of Assistant Engineer McElroy at the time, had been negligent or derelect in their duty, as it was believed that the first fire had not been extinguished thoroughly and as a consequence the second resulted from it. This impression, we believe, originated with some of the firemen, who it appears were chagrined and disappointed because they were not permitted, as has been the custom, to flood the building with water, Mr. McElroy allowing but one stream to be put in the building, which, under the circumstances, was amply sufficient to extinguish the fire. These reports, which reflected considerably upon the competency of a faithful and efficient officer, having become generally circulated, in order to place the facts before the public Chief Engineer Hare ordered an investigation of the matter yesterday, which took place before His Honor, Mayor Blackmore, at three o'clock P. M. The following testimony was elicited:

Seth Wilmot, Lieutenant of the police, testified that he was on duty the night of the fire; was the first to discover it, and gave the alarm; was in the building when the engine left it; was satisfied that the fire was effectually extinguished, and thought the second fire broke out in a building adjoining the one in which the fire first occurred.

Officer Rook, of the police, had also been present at the fire, examined the lower part of the building after the fire, and was fully satisfied that it was thoroughly put out. He first discovered the second fire in the third and fourth stories. The first fire was not near a partition. The Assistant Engineer left a bucket and tub of water, in case the fire should break out again before he left the premises.

John D. Baily, N. Gratton Murphy, Fire Marshall; George Wilson of the Eagle Engine Co., William Hanlin, James Mullen and William Lynch, of the Duquesne, and John Mattern, all testified that they had been at the fire, and were fully satisfied before leaving that it was thoroughly extinguished, and that the Assistant Engineer had done his duty effectually.

Chief Engineer Ham stated that he was fully satisfied that the Assistant had performed his duty faithfully, and that no blame attached to him whatever.

Meeting of the Firemen's Association

A regular quarterly meeting of the Firemen's Association was held Monday evening, February 10th, at the rooms of the Association in City Building.

In the absence of President McCarthy, on motion of Mr. Torley, Joseph Irwin, of the Niagara, was called to the chair, and Col. W. B. Neeper, of the Vigilant, appointed Secretary pro tem.

Members present—Messrs. Kincaid, Wilson and Reese, of the Eagle; Sims and Wall, of the Allegheny; Hamil, of the Duquesne; Johnson, Irwin and Cupples, of the Niagara; Torley, Neeper and Kincaid, of the Vigilant; Swint and Little, of the Relief, and Nobbs and McKee, of the Independence.

On motion, the reading of the minutes was dispensed with.

Mr. Reese moved that the names of the delegates from the Good Intent Company be stricken from the rolls, and that the company be ruled out of the Association.

Mr. Torley moved to amend by referring the matter to a special committee, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The amendment was not seconded and the question recurred to the original motion, which was adopted.

On motion of Mr. McKee the Independence, which was No. 8 in the Association, took the place of the Good Intent, which was No. 7.

Chief Engineer John H. Hare presented his quarterly report, ending February 10th, 1868, to the Association, of which the following is a recapitulation:

Number of Fires—November, 12; December, 12; January, 13, and one false alarm; February, 5. Total number of fires, 42. False alarms 1.

Accidents.—During the quarter there were eighteen persons killed or fatally injured, and ten wounded.

On motion of Mr. Torley, the report was received and ordered to be filed.

The bill of James McCaffrey, janitor, for $5 was read and ordered to be paid.

Mr. Torley presented the credentials of Messrs William C. Brown, Gen. A. L. Pearson, and Samuel W. Reynolds, as delegates from the Lawrence Fire Company, elected respectively for one, two and three years, and moved that they be admitted as members of the Association.

Mr. Swint said that according to the Constitution they could not be admitted until the company was organized and in service.

The motion was laid on the table.

Mr. Neeper read a communication from Thomas H. Rabe recommending that the firemen be furnished with hot coffee at fires. The communication was received.

Mr. Torley called the attention of the members to a patent clamp for the purpose of stopping leaks in hose, for which Mr. John Floyd is agent, and moved that the Association recommend its adoption.

Mr. Cupples amended by referring it to the Committee on Engines and Hose. The amendment was adopted.

On motion of Mr. Swint, the Chief Engineer was requested to use all his influence to assist the Lawrenceville Fire Company in perfecting their organization and procuring an apparatus.

Mr. Sims offered a resolution providing for the alteration of article second, so as to provide for the election of four Assistant Engineers. Laid over.

On motion, adjourned.

Seventh Ward (Allegheny) Nuisance.

This case, just tried in the Quarter Sessions, has elicited more than ordinary interest, from the very large number of citizens concerned in its determination. The locality, popularly known as Butchers' Run, sometimes called "Soft-Soap Run," from the developments made on the trial, must be little short of a pandora's box of the vilest stinks or noxious smells. An accurate survey was made of the narrow ravine through which the stream passes, and a plot exhibited showing the location (within Allegheny City limits) of twenty slaughter houses, nine tanneries, four oil refineries, five soft-soap and bone boileries combined, nine soft-soap factories, and one chandiery—or a total of forty-eight establishments, within the distance of a mile, from which unpleasant smells proceed. The defendant has been engaged in bone boiling and also in the manufacture of glue, and it was claimed that while other establishments of a kindred character might also be more or less offensive, or contributed to the stench in the valley, his (defendant's) place was the worst in the lot. The defense contended that the other establishments were equally nuisances, if the defendant's was claimed to be such. This, it was conceded, might all be, but it did not relieve the defendant from responsibility while the proprietors of other factories were equally responsible and should be indicted. Then it was urged that it was a serious matter to the defendant, in considering the capital he had invested in the business. That consideration the Court thought had nothing to do with the case. The defendant had no more rights than the man who owned property to the amount of one hundred dollars, resident in the neighborhood, and claiming to be disturbed by the defendant pursuing his business of bone-boiling, &c. For a better understanding of the case, or appreciation of the scented locality in our sister city, we refer the reader to extracts from the charge Judge Sterrett delivered in the case, given in another column.

Individuality vs. Imitation.

The postponed lecture of Rev. Alexander Clark, on the above subject, under the auspices and for the benefit of the "Soldiers' Library Association," will be delivered this evening, at No. 127 Lacock street, Allegheny. The lecture is one of Mr. Clark's best efforts, which is saying a great deal, and independent of the object is deserving of public patronage. The soldiers only ask money for money's worth, and their efforts in this cause should be heartily seconded.

Serious Accident.—Mrs. Cluley, wife of Mr. Thomas Cluley, Deputy Sheriff, was seriously bruised and otherwise injured on Saturday evening, by an explosion, caused by throwing a paper of powder in a stove. She was cleaning out a drawer and burning the useless articles it contained, and among other things she threw the powder in the stove, not knowing what it was. It is feared that her eyes, which were severely burned, will be permanently affected.

THE PETROLEUM ASSOCIATION.

Special Meeting—Report of the Committee on the Oil Inspector Bill, Etc.

A special meeting of the Pittsburgh Petroleum Association was held at Room No. 4 Dalzell's Building, Duquesne Way and Irwin street, at two o'clock p. m. yesterday. The meeting was called to order by the President, H. M. Long, A. F. Brooks officiating as Secretary.

The minutes of the preceding meeting were read and approved.

The President (Mr. Forsythe in the chair) read the report of the special committee appointed to visit Harrisburg to defeat the Oil Inspector bill introduced by Senator Connell.

On motion, the report was accepted and the bill of expense referred to the Finance Committee, with instructions to pay the same if found correct.

Mr. Waring offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Pittsburgh Petroleum Association be tendered to Colonel Thomas A. Scott, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Railroad, for favors extended; to the Pittsburgh Press, and to Senator Errett and Representatives Ford, Miller, Beckert and Riddle, for their timely assistance rendered to our Committee in defeating the passage of the Philadelphia Inspector's bill, introduced into the Pennsylvania Legislature.

On motion of David Kirk, Esq., the thanks of the Association were tendered to the Committee for the able manner in which they attended to their duties at Harrisburg.

The Committee on Bonded Warehouses reported that they had made some inquiry in regard to the matter, and that from the information they had received they were disposed to exempt the present management from blame. The Committee asked to be continued for more definite investigation. On motion, the report was received and the Committee continued.

Mr. Waring moved that an additional assessment of ten dollars be placed on each member of the Association for the purpose of defraying the expenses of committees.

Mr. Kirk moved to amend by referring the matter to a committee of three to report an equitable mode of assessment.

The amendment was adopted, and the Chair appointed Messrs. Kirk, Warden and Waring as said committee.

On motion of Mr. Kirk, John A. Warden, Esq., was added to the committee to visit Washington City to represent the interests of the oil trade of Pittsburgh, and endeavor to secure, if possible, a reduction of the tax on oil.

Mr. Kirk offered the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this Association do hereby condemn the practice of politicians and legislative "borers" of introducing bills calculated to injure branches of industry, and evidently to "bleed" or extort money from persons engaged in business without regard to the common welfare.

Adjourned to meet at the call of the President.

The Buying and Selling of Governmental Offices—Interesting Article of Agreement.

Some few weeks ago we published a rumor, which was then current on the streets, to the effect that a prominent Republican gentleman was engaged with a clique in efforts to remove General Thos. A. Rowley from the office of United States Marshal, in order to provide for himself and others a comfortable and lucrative position. Our allusion to the rumor drew forth a card from the gentleman referred to, in which all knowledge or complicity in the scheme was pointedly denied. The Leader, however, has succeeded in unearthing the following article of agreement, which goes to show two things—the part played by our Republican friend in the transaction, and the manner in which Governmental offices in this district are made to bring grist to the mill of certain operators. Here is the document:

"ARTICLE OF AGREEMENT, made this 4th day of December, A. D. 1867, between I. N. C, and J. H. S, both of the city of Pittsburgh, county of Allegheny and State of Pennsylvania: Witness, that the said C hereby agrees that in cases he shall be appointed Marshal of the United States for the Western District of the State of Pennsylvania, he will, after all the expenses attending the fulfillment of the duties of said office of Marshal have been paid—including the salary of himself, Col. J. P. G, and one clerk, to be appointed at the suggestion of, and to be named by said S—the said C will pay over to the said S thirty-three per cent., or one-third of all moneys received and belonging to said I. N. C as Marshal for above named district. Settlements to be made monthly.

In witness whereof, the said parties have hereunto set their hands and seals, the day and year above written.

"Witness, [SEAL.]
[SEAL.]"

Subjoined to this agreement was the annexed guarantee for its faithful performance on the part of the gentleman to be appointed Marshal:

"I DO HEREBY AGREE to be responsible to J. H. S, or his assigns, for the true and faithful performance of the above-named contract on the part of the said I. N. C.

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and seal the 4th day of December, one thousand eight hundred and sixty-seven. [SEAL.]"

Burglary

The professionals who use the "jimmy" and false keys it appears are again at work. Saturday night the shoe store of Englehart & Co., in the upper end of the Ninth ward, was entered by burglars and robbed of about $300 worth of goods. The front door was doubly locked, being locked like ordinary doors and additionally fastened with a hasp and padlock. The padlock was broken off, and the door unlocked. After the robbery the door was re-locked, except with the padlock. The police are after the perpetrators.

Assault and Battery.—Walton McNight made information before Alderman Donaldson, Saturday, charging George Fres and Frank Small with assault and battery. The parties are boys fourteen or fifteen years of age, and it is alleged by the prosecutor that the accused way laid him and beat him shamefully, knocking two of his teeth out. The defendants were arrested yesterday and had a hearing when they were held to bail for their appearance at Court, in default of which Small was committed to jail.

An Officer Frightened.—John McMahon, constable of Union township, in attempting to make a levy on the goods of Mrs. Lear Dunn yesterday, was frightened away from the premises by that lady and her son, who he alleges threatened to do him bodily harm. The frightened man, fearing his life was in danger, repaired to the office of Alderman McMasters and made two informations against the parties, one for interfering with an officer and the other for surety of the peace. A warrant was issued.

Boat Burned.—An oil boat belonging to the National Refining and Storing Company, lying in the Allegheny river, near Lawrenceville, was burned on Sunday evening. The boat was valued at eight hundred dollars. The fire was accidental.

Escaped in Time.

The Frenchman to whom we alluded in a former issue as having attempted to elope with another man's wife, it appears left the city in good time, as a warrant was issued for his arrest yesterday on a charge of seduction under promise of marriage. Yesterday a young woman of lady-like appearance, who resides with her parents in McKeesport, came in company with her father to Alderman McMasters' office and made information against the Frenchman. She alleges that the accused had been paying attention to her for some time, and in July last, under promise of a speedy marriage, effected her ruin. He continued his attentions until September, when he left the town, since which time she heard nothing of him until her attention was called to the attempted elopement published in the morning papers of this city, and upon inquiry found that he was the identical "frog eater" who had deceived her. A warrant was issued, but Monsieur has not been heard from yet.

The Elegance, beauty and variety of the large stock of goods found at Bates & Bell's, No. 21 Fifth street, to say nothing of the very reasonable prices at which offered, are attractions sufficient to throng their salesrooms with purchasers. The firm have determined to close out their entire stock preparatory to the opening of the spring trade, and all kinds of dress and general dry goods are offered to patrons at decided bargains. The shopping public are invited to call in and examine the goods and inquire the prices.

Fire in Uniontown.—About four o'clock yesterday morning the dwelling and grocery store of Peter Kreemer, corner of Main and Stone streets, Uniontown, Pa., was destroyed by fire. The family were all asleep when the fire broke out, and the building being a frame one, the flames made such rapid progress that they had no time to get anything out of it, and the family themselves barely escaped becoming a prey to the devouring element. We are not informed as to how the fire originated.

A Vicious Tinker.—Joseph Redman yesterday made information before Alderman Humbert against William Cohen, charging him with assault and battery. Cohen, it appears, is a tinker, or tinner, and the prosecutor alleges that he went into Cohen's shop to light a cigar, when the defendant, who was working with a hot soldering iron, burned his, the prosecutor's, finger with it, and then struck him in the face. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

Fresh Groceries, in large quantity, choice quality and splendid variety, at the popular house of McBride & George, No. 164 Federal street, Allegheny City. The firm are determined that while their stock will prove inferior to that of no other house in the same line of trade, their prices will be kept exceedingly reasonable and within the reach of all. A purchasing visit will satisfy our readers of these truths.

There will be a grand skating contest at Canonsburg, Washington county, tomorrow afternoon. Prizes of an elegant character will be awarded to the best lady and gentleman skater. Contestants from the city are invited to enter, and a good time to visitors is promised.

New Hose.—At a meeting of the Committee on Engines and Hose, held last evening, it was resolved to order four thousand feet of hose—five hundred feet for each company.

STATE NEWS.

—The Republicans of Mifflin county have adopted the Crawford county system of nominations.

—In the Dauphin county court, the suit of the Commonwealth against the Pennsylvania Railroad and Canal Company, for not opening ways for fish to ascend the dams was decided against the Company. The case will go to the Supreme Court to test the constitutionality of the act.

—The County Commissioners of Mercer have purchased the lot and residence of the late General Forker, located on the diamond, south of the Court House, and contemplate erecting thereon a new jail the coming summer. This is a needed improvement, one recommended time and again by the Grand Jury.

—On Tuesday, the 4th inst., at about 3 p. m., the dwelling of H. M. Bole, in Venango county, was consumed by fire. The fire broke out in the upper story and was breaking through the roof when discovered. Mrs. Bole was sick and entirely helpless. Her husband succeeded in removing her and the bed she lay on. She was taken to the residence of his father, D. M. Bole, Esq., without injury. Nearly everything in the house was destroyed.

—Culver, Penn & Co. have issued a circular under date of February 1st to their creditors, advising them that the Reno Company on that day entered into the possession and management of the lands formerly owned by "The Reno Oil and Land Company." They state that "the Directors of the Reno Company having possession, are taking active measures for its developement." They propose at once to let twenty leases upon the territory immediately adjoining the Lackawana and Hasson wells, which have been so largely productive during the past year, and will, as the means at their hands will permit, overhaul the wells of the Company now in operation and complete those heretofore commenced.

THE HEARSE IN ENGLAND.—Of all carriages, perhaps, that were ever invented, the hearse is the most hideous, and there really is no propriety about its build or decorations whatever. It is simply a very unseemly cupboard; and why it should be surmounted with plumes, of all conceivable things, no one, we presume, is prepared to explain. These plumes again appear on the heads of the horses, without apparently any cause or suitability; and then, be it observed, to be buried in anything like style you must have four horses. There is something grimly absurd in the idea of some honest city man, who has gone to his daily task for years in a cab or an omnibus, taking his last public drive, when he is beyond enjoying it, in a four-in-hand. He would have astonished his friends with a vengeance if he had ever sported a drag while he was living, and why should he be made to begin such extravagance, and in a line so distant from his tastes, when he is dead and helpless? London Leader.

—The funny man of the Boston Commercial Bulletin gives several valuable hints to persons who are about to give presents: For your washerwoman or bootblack, buy some elegant trifle of Bric-a-Brac. It is their affair if they haven't got a marble bracket or what-not to put them on, and not yours. If you have any strong Calvinistic friends, a pack of playing cards or an opera glass will be a very lively surprise for them; and a gift of a good heavy volume of dry sermons to your fashionable young friend, who delights in the theatre and bal-masque, will very likely cause you to be remembered with strong expressions of some kind, if not of gratitude. In buying books for children, patronize those gloomy caverns in Cornhill, from which the literary wet blankets of childhood are issued, and select a good dismal story of an unnatural child, who puts his spending money in the missionary box, talks like a moral handkerchief, and is finally rewarded by being shipped off to Boorioboolah Gha as a missionary.

Another Most Extraordinary Cure of Disease

In detailing a history of the following cure, we feel warranted in doing so from the fact that it is out of the common run of such cases, and therefore warrants us in making special allusion to it. It is that of a young man in Allegheny City, named John Titzell, who, for more than six years, had been afflicted with a disease which threatened not only one of his limbs, but even his life.

In the case of young Titzell no pains had been spared to eradicate from his body the disease which seemed to have taken hold of his vitals. The whole system had sunk under the fatal throes of a disease which, until Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher was used, was entirely uncontrolled and unmanageable. The leg of the patient had been cut open from the knee to the ankle, the bone had been scraped, bored and partly cut away, with the view to eradicate from the system the cause of so much constitutional disturbance, which left barely a hope of recovery. Six years had been wasted in the application of fruitless remedies, and when Dr. Keyser was called to see him, in January last, he was barely able to walk, so utter and complete was the prostration.

The friends and neighbors of John Titzell know well enough that we have not over stated the case. He was confined entirely to his room, with no prospect before him but to await the fatal issue of his disease. Pale and emaciated, with every day adding to the power of the disease, with no hope of recovery, no wonder that the cure of young Titzell is regarded as one of extraordinary mark, and worthy to be especially noted for the benefit of others. After this extreme prostration young Titzell is again able to walk about every where, after a double handful of decayed bones had been expelled from the deceased leg. Many of these bones can be seen at Dr. Keyser's office. We have heretofore had occasion to record similar cases to the one now under consideration, made by Dr. Keyser and his great Blood Searcher, and the only matter of surprise to us is, that it is not used in all cases where the blood is disordered, or where the ordinary outlets of Nature are obstructed, or in a torpid condition.

The cure of the young man above referred to was effected almost exclusively by Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher, although the Doctor visited the case every two weeks until the patient, through the action of the medicine, was able to visit his office.

Where to Buy.

The question, "where shall I purchase?" is one of vast importance to the community, and should be carefully studied before it is answered. To determine where to make your purchases, you should first ascertain where you can get the best article for your money, or in other words, where the best article can be had for the least money, and whenever you have done that the question is answered. Snodgrass & Ross, at No. 24 St. Clair street, dealers in boots, shoes and gaiters, are selling as cheap as the cheapest a quality of goods which is unsurpassed in this or any other market, as the purchaser will readily ascertain by a visit to their establishment. Their stock comprises a full assortment of everything usually kept in a first class shoe house, and the salesmen are gentlemanly and obliging.

The Continental Saloon.

Neither the extreme cold weather nor the dull times have the slightest effect on business at the Continental Saloon. Mr. Holtzheimer, the gentlemanly proprietor, is equal to every emergency, and no matter what the state of the weather, or condition of the markets, he always keeps his establishment supplied with the best the season offers. This fact is apparent to all who call at the Continental, on Fifth street, next door to the Post-office. Mr. Holtzheimer's corps of attendants are gentlemanly and efficient, and always attentive to the wants of customers. And in addition the high style of art in which viands are prepared at this establishment, the saloon and its apartments are kept in a most perfect state of neatness.

The Old Tea Mart.

At Joseph A. Robinson's old established tea mart, No. 29 Fifth street, housekeepers and others will find a fresh importation of the choicest fragrant teas and delicious aromatic coffees, at prices in keeping with the recent decline in the markets. Ladies who have not yet visited this establishment, and who are ignorant of the great advantages they can obtain by making their purchases there, would do well to favor it with a visit. The stock of fresh groceries, pure spices, table condiments, canned fruits, &c., is very superior and attractive and at prices which will commend themselves to the economical.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 11, 1868.

YESTERDAY the Petroleum Board passed a resolution warmly commending the course taken by the newspapers here in reference to the bill recently introduced into the Senate to provide for an Inspector of Oils. This may properly be taken elsewhere as indicating that if the newspapers of this city have spoken with warmth or even vehemence of that project, they have only reflected the sentiments of a large, enterprising, and respectable class of business men whose private rights were assailed to gratify the cupidity of speculators in legislation.

While on this point, we may as well advance a step further, and declare that touching various prominent interests of this community, injuriously affected by proceedings at Harrisburg, in the legislative bodies, our journals have not felt more strongly, or expressed themselves more tartly, than the great bulk of our business men. If anybody, in other parts of the Commonwealth has imagined the heat was monopolized by our newspapers, he has labored under a delusion. The newspapers have spoken only the mind of the citizens.

CONGRESS has been accused, alike by Democrats and Conservative Republicans, of usurping authority in its Reconstruction Policy not conferred on it by the Constitution. The Supreme Court has had this question before it, and has decided that Congress has exclusive authority in the premises, only political topics being involved. What is more; this decision conforms to the doctrine held by the Court on this class of matters from the foundation of the government. Congress has been, and is still acting strictly within the limits of its prerogatives; and its assailants wish to make new rules, in conflict with all past precedents to suit their party ends.

This decision is the more consequential because it has been understood for months that a majority of the Judges, in their private opinions, do not consent to what Congress has done and is doing. If they had the power they would not do as Congress is doing, but they are constrained to adjudge that the discretion is not with them, but with the Senate and House. After this, it will become the Democrats to abate somewhat, at least, of their wild talk about the usurpations of Congress.

EARLY LAST WEEK we quoted the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States, pronounced by Chief Justice TANEY, in the Rhode Island case, (DORR'S Rebellion,) in which the law was laid down to be that in political matters the bench had no jurisdiction, the Constitution devolving on Congress exclusively the right and duty of adjudging whether the State organizations were republican in form and substance. This was demonstrating that the powers now claimed by Congress for itself, of regulating the governments of the Southern States, and denied to the Supreme Court, was not revolutionary or even novel, but strictly in accordance with the organic law as expounded by the highest judicial tribunal. It was, also, showing inferentially that the Democrats, under color of zeal for the authority and dignity of the Supreme bench, were aiming to debauch it into an instrument of partizan contentions.

The Post read this decision with profound amazement; cogitated upon it for the remainder of the week; took it for its Sunday meditation; and, finally, on Monday undertook to prove that the Judges were egregiously ignorant of the meaning of the Constitution and of the extent of their powers—and, all this, under color of replying to our reflections upon the decision and its applicability to the existing situation. So, then, our contemporary is equally at variance with Congress and the Supreme Court. Probably it agrees just as little with the Executive as with Legislative and Judicial Departments. If it could only run all three of co-ordinate branches to suit itself, it might be satisfied, but it would produce a government no good citizen would be willing to live under.

To the grief of the Post, doubtless, the Supreme Court, on yesterday morning, re-affirmed its old doctrine, dismissing the Georgia and Mississippi Reconstruction cases. The Democrats will now feel a like contempt for the Court as for Congress.

AN IMPORTANT MEASURE.

The College is too frequently regarded with jealousy by the friends of Common Schools, as some consider themselves; even with a hostile spirit, as if the two were not, as they are, the complements of each other—both essential to one whole. These persons, sometimes officials, either do not know or forget that our College, as we have already shown in our paper, precedes the Common School and furnishes the warmest friends and most able advocates of the latter. The more thoroughly educated a man is the broader and more liberal are his views. Such a man is our present State Superintendent. He has proposed the grand idea of uniting all Colleges, truly such, into one system, giving to each $3,000 annually. Each of them on its part is to educate one student from the Common or High School gratuitously for only fifty dollars—fifty dollars given by the State. This measure meets with the hearty approval of the venerable and able chairman of the Committee of Education of the Senate and with the true friends of education throughout our State. It offers to the indigent but worthy student in our Common Schools the highest educational advantages in the State without charge. By it our University would be required to educate sixty such students if offered it, at one-half its present rates. Its friends have deeply felt the need of some provision for the many worthy young men who desire to enjoy its advantages and who could board at home but cannot go abroad or pay the tuition here. Many such have been aided by remitting the whole or a part of their tuition. This course has imposed a heavy burden on a few men poorly able to bear it. To endow scholarships for such has been the desire of the friends of the University for a long time. Should this bill pass it will partially remove this want. We trust our Representatives and Senators will give this matter their warmest support. In years past the subject of education in its particular relations to our own county has been disregarded greatly to our injury and their shame.

DEPENDENT AND CRIMINAL POPULATION.

The Citizens Association of Pennsylvania has made its report on the Dependent and Criminal Population of the State. It begins by dividing the dependent population into four divisions and thus considering—Paupers, Vagrants, Divinely Afflicted, and inmates of the House of Refuge.

There are 14,988 paupers in poor houses and chargeable to counties, or one in 244 of the population. The lowest estimate of the cost of maintaining them is 29 cents per day each, or $1,597,720, or $2 67 for each voter in the State.

The relief given to deserving poor not residing in Poor Houses amounts to 32 cents for each voter in the State.

The number of the second class or vagrants is difficult to ascertain on account of their roving propensities, but 361,000 meals have been furnished to such during the year by the various poor houses.

The report then goes on to consider what it styles the third class of poor under the following several generally recognized divisions:

1st. The Insane, for whom there are five hospitals, besides those attached to county houses, with a capacity for holding and caring for some 1,100 patients, and to which the Legislature has appropriated upwards of $800,000, more than half of which has been given to the Western Pennsylvania Hospital.

2nd. Feeble minded children, for whom but one hospital exists in the State, which is capable of caring for but 80 patients, while the number of imbeciles in the State is almost as great as the number of insane. Intemperance of one or both parents is supposed to be the cause of at least one-third of the cases of this character, and the cost to each voter is 3.3 cents per year.

3d. Deaf mutes, for whom the hospital in Philadelphia has been working since 1821, during which time it has received from the State treasury $848,000. A large proportion of the patients of this institution are turned out as useful and productive citizens of the Commonwealth.

4th. The Blind, for whom the Institute in Philadelphia has done so much. Six hundred inmates have been morally and socially educated, and fitted to be self-sustaining, in this hospital, which has since its establishment, in 1831, cost the State $484,450.

The homes for friendless children and houses of refuge are then considered and generally approved of by the Association.

After which the report goes on to consider in the same exhaustive manner the Criminals of the State and the means taken for their punishment or restoration. The estimated population of the State and county prisons is 9,116, or one in 402 of the population of the Commonwealth; the average cost of their maintenance is 44 cents per day each, or $1,464,029 60 per annum. Two-thirds of all the pauperism and crime in the State are attributed to intemperance, and one-third of the insane and feeble minded can be traced to the same cause. At this estimate the aggregate cost to the State of maintaining paupers and prisoners, whose condition is the result of intemperance, is $2,304,224 per year, and the insane, idiotic and other dependent persons from the same cause cost the State in the aggregate $55,666 66 per year. Such startling facts as these form a most eloquent temperance lecture, and one which should be read by all. The whole tone and result of the report and investigations of this Association are cautious and discriminating, and will be productive of great good and a needed reform in the State.

FARM, GARDEN AND HOUSEHOLD.

How to Winter Lambs.

Winter has long been upon us in good earnest, and all kinds of stock, and particularly lambs, calves and colts need good shelter, good care, and plenty of good food. They cannot withstand the piercing winter weather like older animals. They do not like the dry hay, and unless they have especial care will fall away, and perhaps not survive the spring.

But it was upon the care of lambs that we began this article. They should be separated from the older sheep without fail. Sheep never do well in large flocks at best, and the weakest and puniest suffer the most. Lambs, if left with the older sheep, will be pushed about by their superior strength—driven and kept away from the feed, and dwindle and die. They need better feed and better care than old sheep. Sheaf oats are excellent for lambs; but begin by feeding light, and increase the amount gradually to what they ought to have. Corn should be fed, if oats are not to be had. Corn meal is better than unground corn, and shelled corn better than corn in the ear—but if you have not the one, use the other.

Good, bright, sweet hay should also be provided in sufficient quantity and variety. Clover hay, saved with proper care is greatly relished by lambs, and, indeed, by all kinds of stock. It is strange that farmers don't raise more clover hay and less timothy. Clover is more fattening and better relished by all kinds of stock. Indeed, stock will keep fat on clover and grow poor on timothy alone. If fed on timothy, they must have corn also. But a variety of hay should be produced—timothy for working animals—clover, orchard grass, herd's grass, &c., and these given for a change and particularly to lambs and other young stock.

No man should pretend to keep sheep without having racks from which they are to feed. It is more essential in this climate than further north, because we have so much rain and mud here. If thrown upon the ground, the feed gets trampled into the mud and wasted—wretched economy, when a few dollars would have prevented any such waste.

If the flock of lambs is large, they should be sub-divided and the puny ones separated and given still better care. An experience of twenty-five years with lambs has taught us the correctness of these directions.

Load Binders.

A very simple, effective and quick way of fastening four-foot wood upon a sled, not in general use, is a roller or windlass at the back end of the sled. An inch and a half or two-inch hole is bored horizontally into the rack or ladders behind the back stake holes, then take a round hard wood stick, four or five inches in diameter, make a gudgeon on each end of it to fit the holes bored in the rack or ladders; or instead of boring holes iron staples can be used on the under side of the rack or sled body, which will hold the roller. Bore two or three inch and a half lever holes in this roller, and you have a windlass similar to those used by blacksmiths in shoeing cattle. When the wood is placed upon the sled, fasten the binding chain firmly to the front end of the sled, and passed over the middle of the load, fastening the other end to the windlass, which being turned, draws the chain with great force upon the wood, so that not a stick can move until the sled is upset, or the windlass loosened. If the binding chain becomes loose by jolting of the load on the road, you have only to turn the windlass a little, and the chain is tight as before. This is the quickest and most thorough way of fastening loads of any kind upon wagon or sled, and often saves the load from turning over, by keeping it in place when on slanting places.—N. E. Homestead.

The Service Berry—Pyrus Arbutifolia.

The mountains and valleys of British Columbia over which fire has swept, consuming all the timber, and leaving nothing standing after its departure, are covered with a growth of young poplars and the service berry shrub, which does not attain any great size, although I have seen them ten and twelve feet in height, but rarely exceeding three and four feet. The berries are ripe in August and hang on until frost. The bears revel among them at this time of the year. Millions of bushels ripen and fall to decay.

London says the grafting of the aronia or service berry, strictly Pyrus arbutifolia, on the common thorn, renders it one of the truly ornamental shrubs. Some years since I received from R. P. Fulkerson, Esq., some plants of a dwarf variety of the service berry, which gave a pleasant little fruit; but its want of character on its own roots led me to neglect it, and I have lost it. As a novelty and an ornamental shrub, I notice this now, that our growers may take hold of and introduce it. E. R. E.
—Horticulturist for January.

Barking Apple Trees.

There is a certain period in the season, when the bark may be stripped wholly from the trunks of apple trees, without destroying them. It must be at a time when some new bark has just been formed beneath the old, thus forming a sufficient coating for a new growth. It is necessary that the old bark be taken off, without rubbing or chafing the new surface. We lately examined an old orchard in the town of Brighton, near Rochester, a part of the trees of which had been divested of their bark about a year ago. They were found in a thrifty, healthy condition, the trunks being covered with a smooth new bark of a uniform thickness of about one sixteenth of an inch. We are unable to say how long the season continues, when this operation may be performed with safety, nor what degree of benefit or injury is likely to result. In the present case, the trees were certainly much improved in smoothness of appearance. Have any of our readers had any decided or satisfactory experience in this respect?—Country Gentleman.

Killing and Dressing Poultry.

Almost every locality has its own system, but I may advert to a few facts on this subject: Poultry, when bled to death, is much whiter in the flesh. I should advise the following plan, as the very best, causing instant death without pain or disfigurement:

Open the beak of the fowl, then with a pointed and narrow knife, make an incision at the back of the roof, which will divide the vertebræ and cause immediate death; after which hang the fowl up by the legs till the bleeding ceases; then rinse the beak out with vinegar and water. Fowls killed in this manner keep longer and do not present the unsightly external marks as those killed by the ordinary system of wringing the neck. When the entrails are drawn immediately after death, and the fowl stuffed, as they do in France with paper shavings or short cocoa-nut fibers to preserve their shape, they will keep much longer fresh. Some breeders cram their poultry before killing to make them appear heavy; this is a most injudicious plan, as the undigested food soon enters into fermentation, and putrefaction takes place, as is evinced by the quality of greenish, putrid looking fowls that are seen in the markets.—Geylin's Poultry Breeding. Published by A. Williams & Co., Boston, Mass.

Black Knot in Plum Trees.

D. D. Walsh, of Rock Island, Ill., well known as an entomologist, says that all his examinations have resulted in the conviction that the black knot on the plum tree is the effect of a fungus, and is not a disease nor a gall. He thinks the spores or seeds are formed about the end of July, in latitude 40 deg, 30 min., and therefore if the excrescences be all cut off and destroyed by the early part of July, an effectual stop will be put to their farther spread.

Comparative Yield of Potatoes.

C. R. Wilson, Tioga county, Pennsylvania, writes the Prairie Farmer, Philadelphia, on the comparative productiveness of three varieties of potatoes which he tested the past season. There were sent to him, from Ohio, two Harrison, three Early Sebec, and eight Early Goodrich potatoes. These were cut to single eyes and planted in drills eighteen inches apart in garden soil. They were dug in September. The Sebec yielded a bushel; the Goodrich gave five bushels; and the Harrison about two and a half bushels. About half the Sebec died out after having made a considerable growth. Two bushels of the Gleason were planted as an experiment, cut like the others, and produced about forty-nine bushels, or nearly twenty-five to one.

How to Keep up Your Hay Crop.

A farmer who had been in the habit of selling his hay for many years in succession, being asked how he kept up his hay crop without manuring or cultivating his land, replied, "I never allowed the after swath to be cut." If this rule was generally followed there would be less said about running out of grass fields or short crops of hay. Some farmers feed off every green thing and compel their cattle to pull up and gnaw off the roots of the grass. Cutting rowen is certain death to hay crops. A farmer had better buy hay at forty dollars per ton than ruin his hay field by close grazing. The general treatment of grass lands in this respect is wrong and expensive, and should be abandoned as a matter of profit and economy.—Wisconsin Farmer.

The Beech as a Hedge Plant.

I noticed your article in the Farmer of November 9th, upon the use of the beech as a hedge plant. I think it may be used with much success, making a beautiful hedge, if care is used in shortening in. I saw many hedges of this kind in Switzerland, Eastern France and Prussia, and was struck with the adaptation of the beech for a thin but effective hedge. It branches little, is stiff and keeps its place. I saw but little that was killed or injured by dry seasons.—T. L. S., in Maine Farmer.

WHISKY FOR RATS.—A correspondent of the Arkansas Conservative, whose house was over-run with rats, says a servant girl, who had seen the effect of whisky on bipeds, thought she would try an experiment upon rats. Accordingly she took a small quantity, made it very sweet with sugar, crumbled in bread enough for the crowd, and set the dish in the cellar. A few hours after she went down and found several rats gloriously "fuddled," engaged in throwing potato parings, and hauling one another up to drink. These were easily disposed of, and those not killed left the premises immediately, suffering from a severe headache.

MUCK FOR POTATOES.—The editor of the Maine Farmer finds from an experience of many years that muck does well for potatoes on dry land. He advises hauling out muck in the winter on sandy or gravelly pasture, and there allowed to freeze; then in the spring apply a shovelful of muck in a hill with a tablespoonful of plaster. This course, he says, will bring sound, mealy potatoes, and at least a fair crop. Potatoes in Maine the past season were a small crop and poor in quality.

A Sufferer from Dyspepsia

is of all men the most miserable, and how very prevalent is this disease among all classes. The causes of this malady are so numerous that it would require a volume to describe them. The primary cause, however, is a disturbance of the digestive organs, the food, instead of undergoing that chemical change which should fit it for the sustainment of the system, often lies for hours in the same state as when first taken; in this case there is a feeling of an oppressive weight in the stomach, the sleep is disturbed, and the whole body seems utterly exhausted and broken down. Yet this universal and distressing malady is controlled and cured, speedily, safely and surely, by

Frightful Prophecies

CONCERNING THE END OF ALL THINGS are made by religious enthusiasts; and, on the other hand, philosophers insist that the centre of the Earth is a mass of fire—that the poles of the Earth will one day be at the Equator, and that the Sun is gradually fading. Talk like this is very terrible; but, pending such wholesale calamities, it will be as well for each member of society to take care of his or her health, and leave the rest to Providence.

The end comes prematurely to all who neglect the preservation of that inestimable blessing. Suffer liver disease, dyspepsia, chronic constipation or any other ailment to take its course unchecked, and it will assuredly shorten life. It cannot be said that the means of protecting the system against the predisposing causes of disease are withheld. The constitutions and physique of the least robust may be so strengthened and fortified by a course of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS as to render them all but invulnerable, not only to the attacks of epidemic disorders, but also to the ordinary complaints which prevail in all countries and at all seasons. If the immense importance of PROTECTIVE MEDICATION were universally understood, this incomparable vegetable antidote, which is already the most popular tonic in the world, would everywhere be classed among the staples of life, and no family would dare to be without it. The time may arrive when this will be the case, for every year adds hundreds of thousands to the list of those who use it.

Chronic Diseases.

The functions of the human body give way, usually one at a time. A disordered liver, or a slight irritation of the bronchial tubes, an obstruction in the action of the renal organs, are sure to be followed by pains and aches in various parts, according to the extent of the organic or functional injury. A man afflicted with dyspepsia will soon find more than the stomach at fault. The food that he swallows fails to renew the natural wear and waste, the worn out matter is deposited in some nook or cranney, where it causes irritation or pain, when it ought to be thrown off and carried out of the system. Hundreds and thousands of just such sufferers have been relieved and restored to health and vigor by a few bottles of DR. KEYSER'S BLOOD SEARCHER, which not only imparts tone to the stomach and digestive organs, but likewise enriches the blood with the elementary principles needful to the restoration of the vital energy of the system. Be careful when you ask for it to get DR. KEYSER'S, for that is the kind, and the only kind, that has cured the numberless cases of disordered and broken constitutions. It was that which cured Mr. Boyd. It was that which cured John Tissill. It was that which cured Margaret McFarland. It was Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher which cured all the old chronic cases which we have published from time to time in these columns. Dr. Keyser's Blood Searcher has cured more cases of chronic diseases than any medicine of recent origin. Sold by the gross, dozen, or single bottle, at the Doctor's great medicine store, No. 140 WOOD STREET.

1786. PROSPECTUS. 1868

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE

The largest daily paper in the State of Pennsylvania, enters the 82nd year of its existence with increased facilities for disseminating the current news of the day, and for rendering good political service in the important Presidential Canvass of 1868. The forthcoming session of Congress promises to prove one of the most important held since the formation of the Government, and the proceedings will be anxiously watched by the intelligent masses. In view of the deep interest centered in the proceedings, the proprietors of the GAZETTE have made arrangements for daily dispatches and letters during the session, from a highly intelligent correspondent, who enjoys the confidence and friendship of the leading members of the Senate and House, the heads of the various Departments, and the leading politicians who frequent Washington, so that readers can depend on receiving the first, fullest and most reliable intelligence from the seat of Government.

The proceedings of the State Legislature, at its forthcoming session, will also prove interesting, inasmuch as many questions of importance will come up for legislation. The GAZETTE will keep at the State Capital, during the entire session, an intelligent and faithful correspondent, who will promptly report the proceedings by mail and telegraph.

It is the only political journal of Pittsburgh which faithfully reflects and steadily advocates the principles held by the Union Republican Party, and interpreted by a loyal Congress.

It gives as much reading matter as any paper sold at twelve dollars per annum, while its price is but eight, being the cheapest as well as the largest newspaper in the Commonwealth.

With the enlargement, every department has been strengthened. The high character of its editorial columns will be maintained, and all questions of public importance will be fearlessly discussed.

The news department will be kept up to the requirements of the day, and in condensed items will faithfully mirror all the transactions worthy of note of the City, State, Country and world at large, and maintain for the GAZETTE the reputation of a live, enterprising and first class family and commercial newspaper.

Ample space has been reserved for market reports, which can at all times be relied upon as correct, as the current quotations for manufactures, farm products, cattle, &c., &c., are daily gathered from actual sales, by faithful and efficient reporters.

The river news is collected with care, and will prove a very interesting feature of the GAZETTE.

The financial news department has been placed in charge of an able and experienced banker, who will render it quite an attractive and useful specialty to bankers, brokers and business men generally.

The religious department will receive the attention due its importance, and will be so conducted as to be pleasing and readable to members of all religious denominations.

The agricultural, art, science, literary, personal and other departments of the paper will be conducted in a manner which will prove satisfactory to the reader.

THE WEEKLY GAZETTE.

The WEEKLY GAZETTE has been enlarged to the same size as the Daily, and is now the largest, cheapest and best weekly family newspaper in the State. It should be in the house of every farmer, mechanic and business man. It gives each week forty solid columns of current news by telegraph and mail, the leading editorials of the daily, and a choice selection of literary and scientific items, together with everything important pertaining to the world of politics. Its agricultural columns will be edited in such a manner as to find favor with the farmer and gardener. The market reports of the WEEKLY GAZETTE are by common consent acknowledged to be the standard authority for both buyers and sellers, and in commercial circles in Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and Western Virginia are without equal. The files of the GAZETTE are used exclusively by the Civil Courts of Allegheny county, as reference in important issues, to determine the ruling prices in the markets at the time of the business transaction in dispute.

Our Agents will favor us by getting up their clubs at once, and not allowing their present ones to expire, as we are anxious that none of our readers should be deprived of a week's news. Additions to clubs can be made at any time, at yearly rates. Postmasters and Merchants are requested to act as Agents.

PRICE ADVANCED. PAR AND INTEREST. THE Central Pacific Railroad. The best and principal portion of the NATIONAL TRUNK LINE ACROSS THE CONTINENT, Is being rapidly carried forward by an unprecedented working force; and it is reasonably certain that the CONTINUOUS OVERLAND RAILROAD CONNECTION FROM NEW YORK TO SAN FRANCISCO WILL BE MADE IN 1870. The United States Government furnishes, upon a subordinate and contingent lien, half the means for constructing the Main Stem Line; and besides an absolute grant of 12,800 acres of valuable public lands per mile, the Central Pacific Railroad Company have received from California sources, donations and concessions worth more than $3,000,000. The available resources of this Company are therefore abundant for the purposes, amounting to $77,000,000 on the first 726 miles of the Line, including Loans secured by a First Mortgage upon the whole property, to the same amount only as the U. S. Subsidy Bonds. The results already attained, although under comparatively unfavorable circumstances, afford substantial ground for believing the CENTRAL PACIFIC to be the Most Favored, Productive and Valuable Railroad Enterprise in the Country. In consequence of the large and rapidly increasing demand, the price of these Bonds has been advanced, and the Company are now offering for sale a limited amount of their First Mortgage Six Per Cent. Bonds, Principal and interest payable in GOLD COIN, in sums of $1,000 each, at par and accrued interest from January 1st, in currency. These Bonds, it is believed, possess the elements of safety, reliability and profit in a greater degree, than any other class of Corporate Securities now offered, and are therefore very desirable for steady investments of surplus capital. Investors will bear in mind the following advantages:
I. They are the first mortgage on one of the most valuable and productive lines of railroad in the world.
II. The actual earnings from local business in 1867 were more than four times the annual interest engagements.
III. The hard part of the road is now done, and the prospects of rapid completion are favorable.
IV. The Company have liberal subsidies, which enable them to prosecute the work with great vigor.
V. The management has been exceedingly prudent and frugal.
VI. There is already a large and growing settlement on the completed and graded line.
VII. The lands promise to be of immense value, 37,000 acres having been already sold.
VIII. Both principal and interest are explicitly made payable in gold coin.
IX. Both the aggregate amount of issue and their standing in Europe will insure for them continued activity and a high rank among standard securities.
At this time they yield nearly Nine per cent. upon the Investment. Holders of Government Securities have an opportunity of exchanging them for Central Pacific Bonds, bearing an equal rate of interest, with the principal abundantly secured, and of realizing a profit of ten to fifteen per cent. in addition. Orders sent with the funds through responsible Banks or Express Companies will receive prompt attention. Bonds sent by return Express, to any address in the United States, at our cost. Information, Descriptive Pamphlets, Maps, &c., furnished on application at the office of the Railroad Company, No. 54 WILLIAM STREET And of FISK & HATCH, Bankers and Dealers in Government Securities, and Financial Agents of the C. P. R. R. Co., No. 5 Nassau street, New York. Also, of ROBINSON & BROS., S. McCLEAN & CO., and JAMES T. BRADY & CO., Pittsburgh.

THE SHAPE ALONE.

BY MARK AKENSIDE.

The shape alone let others prize,
The features of the fair;
I look for spirit in her eyes,
And meaning in her air.

A damask cheek, an ivory arm,
Shall ne'er my wishes win;
Give me an animated form,
That speaks a mind within;

A face where awful honor shines,
Where sense and sweetness move,
And angel innocence refines
The tenderness of love.

These are the soul of beauty's frame,
Without whose vital aid
Unfinished all her features seem,
And all her roses dead.

But, ah! where both their charms unite,
How perfect is the view!
With every image of delight,
With graces ever new!

Of power to charm the deepest woe,
The wildest rage control—
Diffusing mildness o'er the brow
And rapture through the soul.

Their power but faintly to express
All language must despair:
But go, behold Aspasia's face,
And read it perfect there.

—Our wild Northern brothers are playing a good deal of curling, and recently Milwaukee and Chicago had a curling match, in which Chicago came out triumphant.

—The Illinois State Prison is a paying institution; stock, if it can be had, in that concern, ought to pay well. $1,200 to $1,400 per week is the net average gain of the institution.

—Pharaoh's serpents can now be made perfectly harmless, by the use of petroleum, instead of the poisonous substance which has been the great objection hitherto to this wonderful toy.

—A Democratic paper says that Thad. Stevens is on his last legs. We fear it is so, but they seem to be about as good, as far as the head they support is concerned, as any legs he ever had.

—There is a pair of embroidered slippers in a Broadway window, the price of which is $25. An excellent place for unmarried clergymen to get rid of their stock on hand, we should think.

—Some of the Cincinnati papers in speaking of a recent Rink masquerade, mentioned one man who appeared as the "Bay of Algiers." A view of this bay by gaslight was certainly a novelty.

—The shades of the much boasted Pilgrim Fathers would be shocked in a manner quite improper for shades, if they could learn that their degenerate children pay $10,000 per week now for ballet dancing.

—Louis Napoleon, it is said, devotes more time than is absolutely necessary to the glass. He formed an attachment for whiskey when in America, which is gaining on him more than is probably good for him.

—Paris has a new and horrible sensation. The Empress, it is said, bathes in milk, and the lacteal liquid is then sold to the Cafes; as everybody in Paris patronizes the restaurants everybody is interested and outraged.

—A French Abbe of unusual acuteness, has discovered that the best way to suppress Fenianism is for the English Church to come back to Rome and ask Pio Nono to go over and preach a few times in St. Paul's.

—They have a dog in Cincinnati which goes to fires with a hook and ladder company and climbs the ladders, enters the windows, and after picking up something that he is able to carry, retreats by the way he came.

—The Boston Pilot says that the man is now living who will see the majority of people in this country Roman Catholics. If this be true the people of that denomination should make sure that the next Pope is eligible for the Presidency.

—Hartford, Conn., is a distressingly virtuous place. How newspapers of a local character manage to exist there is a mystery. A reporter of one of their journals finding no items at the police court got off the following in his paper:

POLICE COURT.
"Not a prisoner at the bar
To make a special plea;
Three reporters on the spot,
No item for the three."

—London Punch thus makes merry over an advertisement:

EMPLOYMENT FOR SOMEBODY.—Here it is, and a very good idea, too:
"The 13-stop Harmonium, with Swell, Thirty Guineas. Full Lists sent on application."

Why shouldn't a Swell do something for himself in this way? Of course, in applying for the 13-stopper you'd ask the following questions:

1. Does the Swell play the harmonium?
2. Does he require much pressing?
3. If he won't play (being sulky, or not well, for instance) what may you do to him to make him go? Of course, "If I had a donkey what wouldn't," every one knows all about that, but in the case of a Swell the mode of treatment is scarcely so clear.
4. If a family hires a harmonium, will the Swell take his meals with them, or by himself in his own harmonium?
5. Can the Swell be let out? Let out with safety—and, if so, may he be depended upon to come back?

Many more interrogatories might be put to the enterprising advertisers, but in any case we have done our duty in making the above suggestions, and Caveat emptor!

A GREAT FAMILY CONVENIENCE.

A new and novel arrangement for having attached to the back end of common cook stoves, so that the waste blaze which goes up the stove-pipe heats all the water needed in an ordinary sized family, by passing the blaze directly through the boiler, which sits over the pipe hole of the stove. This new arrangement can be put on any No. 7, 8 or 9 common Cooking Stove, of any manufacture. Any person having a TRIUMPH, VICTORY, BLACK OAK, BEAUTY or UNION STOVE, or almost any other Cook Stove made in the Union, can have Boilers attached to their Stoves, including the Attachment, the Boiler and Lids, and Bibb Cock, for the moderate cost of SEVEN DOLLARS, by applying to

HOT WATER BOILERS

ORPHANS' COURT SALE.

Splendid Mansion and Grounds.

On TUESDAY, February 25th, 1868, at 1 o'clock P. M., will be sold at auction, by order of Orphans' Court, an outlot on the Eastern border of the Borough of Beaver, containing about TEN ACRES. About one-half is a beautiful grove, the residue well improved and planted with apple and peach trees, and a variety of small fruits and shrubbery. The improvements comprise a fine two story BRICK MANSION HOUSE, with four rooms on each floor, exclusive of kitchen, wash house and coal house, a good well and cistern and large barn. The location is one of the most picturesque and beautiful in Beaver county, commanding a fine view of the Ohio and Beaver rivers, and of the several villages that cluster near their confluence. It is also exceedingly eligible with reference to Schools, Churches, Railroad Stations, &c. Probably no place now in the market combines so many conveniences and attractions suited to a gentleman that desires for his residence a spot at the same time secluded from the noise and din of business and quickly and easily accessible from Pittsburgh. This property was the homestead of Charles Stone, Esq., late of Beaver. Terms, which will be easy, made known at time of sale.

Persons visiting this Estate will be attended to and all questions answered by Capt. D. H. STONE, Executor of the Estate of Charles Stone, residing on adjoining lot. fe8:d&T

Quarter Sessions—Judge Sterrett.

THE BONE BOILING NUISANCE.

The case of the Commonwealth vs. Agustus Hoeveiler was resumed. The defendant was indicted for keeping and maintaining a nuisance in the shape of a bone boiling or glue establishment on the Saw Mill Valley Plankroad, in the Seventh ward, Allegheny City. The evidence was concluded about half past one o'clock, sixty-four witnesses having been examined—thirty on behalf of the Commonwealth—and the case submitted by counsel without argument. Judge Sterrett charged the jury at considerable length. He said:

The defendant is charged, in this indictment, with maintaining a public nuisance. The nuisance complained of is alleged to be located in the Seventh ward of the city of Allegheny, on the Saw Mill Valley Plank Road, and near "the habitations of divers good citizens of this Commonwealth there inhabiting and residing," and is alleged to consist in keeping and maintaining "a house and place for boiling bones"—"and great quantities of offal for the making and manufacture of glue"—that by reason thereof "the air at and near the said highway and dwellings was and yet is filled, tainted and impregnated with noxious, hurtful and offensive stinks, smells, stenches and gases, to the great damage and common nuisance of all the good citizens there inhabiting and residing and passing and repassing along said common and public highway."

It is not denied that the defendant is the proprietor of the house and place complained of in the indictment, and that the same is kept and maintained for the purposes mentioned, viz.: for boiling bones and for great quantities of offal for making and manufacturing glue. The only question remaining to be passed on by the jury under all the evidence is whether by reason of his keeping and maintaining this house and place the air at and near the Plank Road and the dwellings of those residing in the neighborhood has been tainted and impregnated with noxious, hurtful and offensive stinks, smells, stenches and gases, to the great damage and common nuisance of those residing in the neighborhood and those who have occasion to pass along the plank road upon which the establishment is located.

A nuisance, in the comprehensive sense of the word, means "anything that worketh hurt, inconvenience or damage." If the matter complained of is hurtful, inconvenient or obnoxious to the community in which it is located, and to those who have occasion to pass along public highways near by, it is properly styled a public nuisance, and is the subject of criminal prosecution. If it is hurtful or annoying to an individual or a few individuals in the community, it constitutes a private nuisance, and the remedy of the party aggrieved is by a civil action. It is only with the former that we have to do in this case.

If a business is carried on or an establishment is maintained which occasions unwholesome or unpleasant smells, and affects the air to the actual inconvenience, annoyance or injury to those dwelling in the neighborhood or passing along the highways near the place, it is clearly a public nuisance and indictable as such.

Carrying on trades in populous localities or near public highways which render the air either unwholesome or disagreeable to the senses has repeatedly been declared a public nuisance. Manufactories in themselves lawful may become nuisances if erected in populous districts or along public roads, where they cannot but greatly annoy and incommode those living in the vicinity or passing along. The law is watchful of the public welfare, convenience and comfort, and therefore regards as criminal anything, of sufficient magnitude, calculated to impair the public health or interfere with the comfort and enjoyment of those who may be brought in contact with it.

An impression sometimes prevails that the owner of property has an unqualified right to use his property in such manner and for such purpose as he sees fit. This is a mistake. The correct principle is that the owner of property must so use it as not to injure his neighbors in the occupancy or enjoyment of this property. No one can lawfully exercise an absolute dominion over the land of which he is the owner. His use and enjoyment of it must have reference to the rights of others and be subordinate to the general laws which are established for the common benefit of all. He cannot be justified in making such an appropriation or use of his property as will prevent the public at large from the lawful use and proper enjoyment of adjacent lands and public highways. The public health, comfort and convenience—the safety, welfare and enjoyment of the community—are matters of paramount importance, to which all pursuits, occupations and employments of individuals—inconsistent therewith—must yield.

It is not necessary for the Commonwealth to prove that an alleged nuisance is unwholesome or detrimental to health. It is sufficient if it is shown to be inconvenient and annoying; but, it is not every trifling inconvenience that the law will notice. It must be something more than merely fanciful—more than one of mere delicacy or fastidiousness. It must appear to be an inconvenience or annoyance that materially interferes with the ordinary comfort of human existence—not merely according to elegant and dainty modes and habits of life, but according to plain and ordinary habits of life.

The fact that the place, from which the nuisance is alleged to proceed, may appear to be fit, proper and convenient for carrying on the business which produces the nuisance, is no excuse or defence. Nor is it a matter of any consequence whether some of the parties complaining came to reside in the vicinity or within the sphere of the nuisance since it has been created or before. In other words, whether they came to the nuisance, or the nuisance came to them, they still retain the right to have the air that passes over them pure and unpolluted. * *

The testimony in the case reveals a most shocking state of things, and exhibits a degree of patience and forbearance on the part of the people living on and travelling along Butchers' run, that is almost incredible. In addition to the defendant's establishment, it is clearly shown that there are quite a number of establishments—including a place where dead horses and other animals are boiled up, chandleries, soap factories, bone-boiling establishments, slaughter-houses, &c., from which stenches of the vilest and most disagreeable character emanate to such an extent that the atmosphere of the whole valley is highly impregnated. Indeed, the line of defence appears to be, in part at least, that the stenches are so numerous and so great that it is difficult to discriminate and say from what particular point they come, or whether the defendant's establishment contributes in any perceptible degree to the volume of stench existing there.

Some of the witnesses who have testified in the case, while they agree that smells do proceed from the defendant's establishment, differ very materially as to the quality of these odors. The witnesses called by the Commonwealth—some twenty-five in number—say that stenches of a very unpleasant character—disagreeable, according to some, even to the extent of producing nausea and operating as an active emetic—emanate from the establishment. Others, called by the defendant, say that to them these odors are not at all unpleasant or disagreeable. While many of the witnesses agree that smells of an offensive character exist in that locality, a few of them fail to discover anything unpleasant in the neighborhood; and one of these, in reply to a question put by a juror, stated that he had observed smells emanating from different points along Butcher's Run, but none of these were disagreeable, not even that proceeding from a chandlery, which other witnesses refer to as very offensive. Verily, there is no accounting for tastes. The question naturally arises how is the matter to be settled? By what standard is the public taste to be measured? Undoubtedly, it should be measured by the effect produced on people generally, and not by the idiosyncracies of those who differ in opinion from the great mass of the community on such subjects.

On the one hand we should not conclude that the smells are offensive because they may be testified to be so by a few whose sense of smell may be exceedingly delicate, fastidious or morbidly acute. Nor on the other hand should we conclude that they are not unpleasant and offensive because some, whose sense of smell is just the reverse, may testify differently. It is quite possible, nay, highly probable, that persons may live, move and have their beings so long in an atmosphere of the kind complained of as to be almost incapable of appreciating the pure air of Heaven. By long continued contact with that which is foul the olfactory nerves may become in a measure insensible to the difference between that which is pure and that which is not, if, indeed, they do not acquire a preference for that which would be offensive to the public at large, and actually imbibe the belief that the viler stench is the sweeter smell—that the perfumes of a glue factory and bone boiling establishment are more to be desired than those of the choicest bouquet.

In considering the testimony, therefore, you should be less influenced by either of these extremes, and place greater reliance upon the testimony of those witnesses who in your judgment reflect the common sentiment of the community on the subject under consideration.

—The jury retired at two o'clock and after an hour's deliberation returned with a verdict of guilty.

[When the evidence in the case had been concluded, the counsel for the defence, Messrs. Collier, Kirkpatrick and Koethen, proposed that the jury should visit the locality, in order that they might better determine the question in the case. The proposition was objected to by Col. Duff, District Attorney, and the Court refused to assent, believing such a proceeding improper. The jury could decide upon a verdict from the evidence before them.]

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, MONDAY, February 10, 1868.

The further agitation of the impeachment question and the probability of a further issue of currency, especially national bank currency to the extent of fifty millions, has sent up gold to 143½, though subsequently, the market receded to 141½. The fact that exchange is dull and almost unsaleable and bonds can be shipped again profitably to Europe will give but little support to the gold speculators, and a reaction is looked for before it has touched another point or two. Never before were the holders of gold more anxious to get rid of their stock than at present. The course gold premium took on the day on the last October election showed the speculators how difficult it is to reach their favored fifty per cent.

The bond market is dull and lower for all descriptions of Five Twenties and Seven Thirties; Eighty-one's and Ten Forties are strong. This seems very strange since nobody believes in the passage of a bill forcing people to accept a five per cent. loan for a six per cent. of the same tenor.

The stock market is firm and higher, though the advance is rather light, considering the large amount of cheap money seeking employment at 3 per cent. per annum.

Mining shares are dull and inactive.

Bank and other stocks are offered freely at concessions, and the auctions are not thronged as much as they were.

Money is not in pressing demand here, and good paper will find purchasers at nine per cent.

—As an offset to Mr. Randall's bill in the House, which proposes to substitute greenbacks for National bank notes, Mr. Henderson, from the Finance Committee in the Senate, has reported a bill to take the limit off the National Bank circulation, which is now fixed at three hundred million dollars, with this proviso, that if the combined circulation of greenbacks and National bank notes should exceed seven hundred millions, the Secretary of the Treasury is required to retire and cancel the excess of greenbacks until the amount of greenbacks outstanding is reduced to two hundred and fifty millions. As the present circulation is now composed of three hundred millions of National Bank notes and about three hundred and fifty-five millions of greenbacks, aggregating six hundred and fifty-five millions, Mr. Henderson's bill contemplates an addition of forty-five millions to the circulation of the country. Though, if this be done, the present ratio of reserve will have to be altered. Thus, the two parties in Congress on the currency question are fairly at issue. The House bill is in favor of a currency wholly of greenbacks, and that of the Senate in favor of a currency composed of 250 millions of greenbacks and four hundred and fifty millions of National bank notes, the latter to be secured by the deposit of the new 5 per cent. bonds authorized by Senator Sherman's Funding bill, at the rate of 80 per cent. in notes for the amount of bonds deposited. There is serious opposition to both schemes. Those who favor economy and a close husbanding of all the revenues of the country will generally be found on the side of the issue of greenbacks, as that saves the interest which the Treasury pays the banks on the deposited bonds; while the National banks and those who favor expansion of the currency will as generally be on the side of Mr. Henderson's project of a mixed currency of legal tenders and bank notes, in the proportions stated. In what this issue may result, it would be difficult now to predict. A compromise, or middle course, has been intimated, to continue the two species of paper currency until the Treasury is ready for a resumption of coin payments, but to abate the interest on the bonds deposited by the banks to 2½ or 3 per cent. If Congress will consider these propositions calmly and considerately, entirely on their merits, and without reference to any future political bearing, there is no doubt some wholesome and quieting result might be attained. The public will now keep themselves informed by watching the progress of the two bills named, and, by considering the reason and arguments with which they may be enforced, reach a just conclusion as to which is the better.—Philadelphia Ledger.

—The New York Tribune has the following, relative to the recent sales of 10-40 bonds by the Government:

The announcement that the Treasury was obliged, in January, to sell 10-40 bonds to meet current demands, had less effect on the price of Government stocks than would have been shown if the feeling were not deep rooted in the public mind that at an early day more legal tender notes will be issued under some pretext. This being accomplished, a further advance in gold and gold bearing stocks is predicted by speculators, attended by an advance in all local securities and commodities. It is evident to all ordinary observers that the drain upon the Treasury is large enough to exhaust all its income, and make it impossible to reduce the aggregate of the debt in 1868. But this is not the worst phrase of the matter. The people are getting more troublesome about taxation, and do not look so calmly on while the public treasure is being wasted. This state of things among the tax payers does not at all cool the ardor of the swarm of leeches who deplete the public coffers. It only stimulates to discover sources of supply, which will not create further alarm. As there is a large class of persons in Congress laboring under the delusion that more paper money will cure the evils of the present glut of irredeemable paper, the delusion will probably be availed of to secure the reissue of greenbacks to take the place of the principal legal tenders and compounds which have been withdrawn, regardless of the injury it is sure to inflict upon the community. It is to be hoped that this wrong will not be consummated if the Senate, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the veto of the President can prevent it.

ALLEGHENY CATTLE MARKET.

CATTLE.

The supply of Cattle this week was unusually large, larger than for several weeks past, and had it not been for the fact that some half a dozen car loads were not put on sale, the market would doubtless have broken down and become somewhat demoralized. As it is there was less activity and bouyancy displayed than last week, butchers, in consequence of the increased number on sale, not being disposed to get up any competition, feeling satisfied that there would be enough for all, and knowing full well that if they betrayed any feeling about buying, an advance would doubtless be the result. Compared with last weeks prices, taking everything into consideration, underwent but little change; stock cattle ruled a little higher, while good retailing cattle ruled about the same as last week, ranging from 8 to 9c, gross, for prime to extra: some few—the number was very small—brought a fraction more more than 9c. Stockers sold from 5 to 6c, as to quality and condition, and medium butchers cattle may be quoted at from 6½ to 7c. The following is a pretty full report of all the leading sales:

Peter Hartman reports having retailed 20 head of Chicago cattle at 7¼ to 7¾.

Jas. Doran wholesaled 37 head of good western steers to Cassady & Co. at 8.

Greenwald & Kahn retailed 60 head of fair to choice cattle at 7 to 8.50.

Jacob Gabrielson sold 21 head of mixed Ohio stock, on commission, at 5 to 7; had one very fine four year old heifer left over unsold.

Myers & Needy report having retailed 36 head of Ohio stock at 6 to 7½; 61 head from Chicago at 8¾ to 8c, and 20 head stockers at 5½.

L. Rothschilds sold 15 head of Chicago stock at 6¼ to 7¼; 18 head from same point left over unsold.

E. Katz sold 25 head of mixed Southern Ohio stock at 5 to 7.

Hazlewood & Blackstock sold 17 head Chicago stock at 5¾ to 9—48 head from same point left over; 29 head of Belmont Co. (Ohio) stock for Chas. Shomaker at 7 to 8¼, and 15 head of Mahoning Co. (Ohio) stock for Warner at 6¼ to 7¾.

Marks & Trautman sold 87 head of fair to choice steers at 7¼ to 8¾.

L. Shamberg sold 6 head of very fine Western Virginia steers, averaging 2000 lbs, at 9¾, and 10 head bulls and steers at 4½ for the former, and 7¼ for the latter.

Hedges & Taylor sold 19 head for A. Groff at 6¾ to 7; 18 head for Browning at 4.75 to 7.30; 7 head for Hoagland at 6, 19 head bulls and stock steers at 6¾.

Glass, Lafferty & Co. sold 71 in different lots, on commission, at 5¼ to 6 for stockers, and 6¾ to 8 for butchers cattle.

Our old friend Carr was on hand as usual today, reports to the contrary notwithstanding; he sold 18 head of Knox Co. (Ohio) cattle for Keyes at 5¼ to 7¼ and 19 head of Chicago stock for Dolan at 6¾ to 8¾.

Keefer sold L. Shamberg 4 head of extra Western Virginia steers, averaging 2000 lbs, on private terms; understood to be in the neighborhood of 8.

Isaac Vannata had 54 head of prime Ohio cattle, but he did not put them on the market, not liking the appearance of things at the opening, and thinking he could do better elsewhere.

John Kerwin was not to be seen about the cattle pens to-day; it is said that John was so mortified at our report of him being in the bull business last week, that he has concluded to abandon the field to others.

HOGS.

The demand for Hogs seems to have fallen off somewhat, which may be attributed to the exorbitant prices now prevailing, ranging from 9 to 10c, gross, for common to prime heavy averages.

Rothschilds & Byers report having retailed during the past week 120 head at 9@10.

Emerick, Schwartz & Co. report about 500 head during the same time at 7@10.

SHEEP.

There was a very fair supply of Sheep today, and while the market, in consequence, was a little sluggish, prices, compared with last week, have undergone but little change. As will be seen, good to prime fat mutton Sheep sold at from 5@6c, and one drove of extra sold at from 6½@7c; common and inferior, as has been the case for some time past, brought just what buyers saw fit to give, and even at that, they went off slowly. There is no scarcity of this class of stock in the country and a slight advance always draws out large shipments.

John Kerwin, ably assisted by John McAllister, had 166 head of pretty good sheep; sold 19 to Richardson at 5¼; 16 to Evans at 5; 66 to Long at 5; the balance would not bring more than 4½.

Thos. Bingham sold 66 head of extra fat sheep, from Mercer county, Penna., at from 5½ to 7.

Stakely & Bro. sold 98 head at an average of $2¼ per head; 4 bulls at 4½; and 4 steers and cows at 6¼.

John Beeler reports having sold 88 head of Butler county sheep at from $2 to $4½ per head.

Gerwig wholesaled 95 head of pretty good Ohio sheep, averaging 90 lbs, to Emerick & Co. at 5.

Emerick & Co. retailed the same drove at 4@6.

Adam Eckert had 144 head of Washington Co. sheep; sold 50 to Kimberlin at 5¼, 60 to Patterson at 5,10; and balance went at from $3¼@4¼ per head.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET

CRUDE—The market was a little more active to-day, the sales being rather larger than usual, and prices are a shade higher. We can report sales of 2000 bbls, on spot, at 7½c; 500 at 7¼c; 500 at 7⅜c; 200 at 7c; and 200-barreled oil—at 6¾c. There were no sales for future delivery, in the absence of which we continue to quote at 7½@7¾c offered for March and April; 8@8½c for May—the inside figure offered, and the outside figure asked—sale on Saturday, for November, at 9½c. All the year, buyer's option, is quiet, and may be quoted nominally at 11½@12c. Private telegrams from Oil City report that market unchanged at $2,40.

REFINED—The market for bonded oil appeared to be a little firmer to-day, under the influence of an advance in Antwerp, though there was but little done, and, as yet, prices are no higher. We have but a single sale to report; a "line" of 3000 barrels, commencing with May and ending October, at 21c for May, and advancing half a cent per gallon for each subsequent month. Spot oil, in the absence of sales, may be quoted nominally at 22 to 22½, and all the year, buyer's option, at 25c. There were sales last week for September at 28 to 28½c, and May at 24½ to 25c; we doubt, however, whether these sales could now be duplicated, as Antwerp has advanced to 41 francs, and it is probable that refiners will now feel like holding off in anticipation of a stronger market and better prices.

RIVER NEWS.

The weather continues very cold and winter like, and the prospects for an early resumption of navigation, we regret to state, are by no means encouraging. The thermometer was down to 18 late in the afternoon yesterday, and we should not be surprised to see it down very close to zero this morning.

We are indebted to Pittock for a copy of the Sunday Cincinnati Commercial in advance of the mail.

The towboat Mary Ann, recently sunk and raised at Syracuse, is undergoing repairs in Hudson's dock, at Middleport. It required one hundred pumps, with three men to each, besides two boats with six syphon pumps, nearly a day to free her from water.

Mr. Merry, long connected with the commercial interests of the west, has combined with other parties with the object of building a capacious grain elevator. Mr. Merry has already purchased nearly a hundred arpents of land fronting the river in Algiers, La., a short distance from the Opelousas Railroad depot, whereupon to erect the contemplated elevator, which is not to cost less than $200,000.

The Evansville Journal says: Capt. Jim Lusk, left in charge of the Louisiana, at Cairo has gone into the steamboat agency business with Captain Devenny. They will make a staving team, and the boat will be fortunate which secures their services.

A St. Louis telegram says: Capt. Thomas Baker, aged 92 years, died in this State, January 14. He was one of the early boatmen, having commanded various steamers, one of them the John Golong, which he bought from John J. Roe in 1869. The ferryboats are running again at the principal crossings, which were opened by the Lady Gay.

The weather has been very cold in the Opelousas region. The Courier of the 1st says: During the past week we have had in this latitude some of the coldest weather we have experienced since the memorable winter of 1852. It commenced on Tuesday in a cold rain which before night turned into sleet and a snow storm, and on Wednesday morning house tops were covered with a white mantle an inch or two deep.

A Vicksburg exchange, referring to the arrival of the P. W. Strader, says: While on board of her we witnessed another interesting exhibition of the working of our municipal ordinances. The bar tax nuisance we have once before given an account of. This one is something on a par with it. A western trader had a large lot of poultry on the boat, and several citizens were on the point of making purchases, at prices far below our elevated local charges, when up stepped a brave policeman (the hero who gallantly prevented the city ordinances from being outraged by the sale of a dozen oranges some time ago) and informed the owner of the poultry that he must pay a license of $20 before he could sell a chicken. No sale. The citizens will go chicken hungry or pay two prices for them at the various huckster stands.

The Memphis Bulletin contains the following: Captain Tom Wilson, of the towboat Here, is a candidate for the office of Mayor of Cairo. This is a big step on the road to ruin. Duff, of the Avalanche, ran for the same office once. Look at him now.

The Anna White was in possession of the United States Marshal at St. Louis three or four days previous to sinking. Her upper works and furniture are being removed.

Branch Pilot John Nichols, of the Balize Association, has been getting into trouble lately. From a petition addressed to Gov. Baker, and signed by the Master Wardens and Wardens of the port of New Orleans, it would seem that in December last he is charged, while being under the influence of liquor, with having carelessly run the steamboat Mariposa ashore. The petition is accompanied with sworn affidavits of R. H. Tilford, the Superintendent of the pilots at that point and others. The petition of the Wardens alleges that Nichols is unfit to perform his duties a great portion of the time, and closes as follows: "Various reports reach this office of irregularity and actual violation of the law regulating pilots, and we respectfully represent that action in this case would form an example that would have a salutary effect."

In regard to times at St. Louis the Democrat draws the following gloomy picture: Oppressively dull is the wharfboat now-a-days. If you meet any body on it, they afford you no consolation. Go into an agent's office, and very probably you will find him stretched out on a lounge asleep. True, the ferryboats are awake and busy, and a tiny column of smoke ascend from a couple of wharfboat stacks; but that serves only to remind one of the busy times that were.

Rivers and Weather.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NASHVILLE, February 10.—The river is rising slowly, with four feet large on Harpeth Shoals. The weather is very cold. Arrived: Tyrone, from Cairo. The business on the wharf is very dull.

ST. LOUIS, February 10.—The weather has moderated a good deal to-day, but still it is quite cold. The river is still open opposite the city, and there is no impediment to travel.

MEMPHIS, February 10.—It has been snowing nearly all day. The river is falling rapidly. Departed: Mississippi, for Cairo, last night; Kain, for New Orleans. She took on board seven hundred bales of cotton. The Simpson Horner is up with fourteen barges. The Republic lays over until to-morrow. The Centralia brought in four hundred bales of cotton belonging to the Underwriters, part of the cargo of the Florence Traber.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

LOUISVILLE, February 10.—The river has risen three feet at the foot of the falls; the water in the canal is five feet five inches by the mark. Navigation on the lower Ohio is fully resumed. The low pressure Richmond starts for New Orleans on Wednesday, February 12th. The weather is cloudy. Thermometer 24 degrees.
